DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by JP7332208. The reference discloses the claimed elements including a fuel injection mounted in an air cleaner, and under a fuel tank which covers the air cleaner, wherein the injector is disposed on the front side relative to the centerline of the intake passage portion (6a). Note the abstract recites "in the vicinity of the upstream side of funnel 6a.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP7332208 in view of Nagasaka US 2002/0063004.

The reference JP7332208 discloses the claimed elements including a fuel injection mounted in an air cleaner, and under a fuel tank which covers the air cleaner, wherein the injector is disposed on the front side relative to the centerline of the intake passage portion (6a). Note the abstract recites "in the vicinity of the upstream side of funnel 6a. The reference also shows a second fuel injector.

Regarding claims 2-3, the fuel tank cap is not shown in the drawings, however it would be have been an obvious matter of design choice to locate the injection on the front side relative to the centerline of the fuel tank cap; and on the front side relative to intersection of the center line of the cap and the centerline of the intake duct- since this location is not critical-in order to minimize size of the vehicle which is generally taught by the reference in the final line of the constitution.

Regarding claim 4, locating the second injector on the rear side of the intake passage is taught by Nagasaka. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use this known location for the second fuel injector-since this location is not critical- to minimize the size of the vehicle, or to make the components more serviceable, depending on the various other interfering components etc in the area of the intake passage.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Note the fuel injector locations shown in the prior art.
